SOCIETY NEWS

The November meeting of the Society was held on Saturday, November 19, 2005. The speaker, Gwendolyn Gosney Erickson, Librarian and Archivist of the Friends Historical Collection at Guilford College, Greensboro, NC, gave an interesting presentation on Finding Your Ancestors Using Quaker Records in the Carolinas. We thank Ms. Erickson for her talk.

The editors thank Helen Sammons, Jim Edwards, Joe Sheppard and Mike Whaley for their contributions to this edition of the Clarendon Courier.

First meeting in 2006: Saturday, January 21, 2006. Speaker and place to be announced. Do plan to attend.

The Confederate Hospital at Wilmington, NC
General Hospital #4

Several years ago, an important discovery was made in the National Archives in Washington, DC. It was determined that there were extant records of servicemen, who were in various hospitals, operated by the Confederate Government in Wilmington during the Civil War. The Old New Hanover Genealogical Society paid a researcher to verify and identify these original documents. Funds to have these documents microfilmed were received from Friends of the New Hanover County Public Library, the Civil War Round Table, Oakdale Cemetery and the Cape Fear Chapter #3, United Daughters of the Confederacy. A copy of this microfilm is now available for researchers in the North Carolina Room of the New Hanover Public Library.

General Hospital #4 was in the Seamen's Home, located on the southwest corner of Dock and South Front streets. Converted to a hospital early in the war, it became a civilian hospital during the tragic yellow fever epidemic of 1862. In early 1863, this 200 bed facility reverted back to an army hospital and it continued to be operated as such until the fall of Wilmington to Federal Troops in February 1865.

Robert J. Cooke, a noted Civil War researcher, has undertaken the worthwhile project of transcribing the records into a spreadsheet format, which at this date is about 60% complete with over 2800 names. The original records in chronological order have been alphabetized by surname of the patient. The columns of the spreadsheet follow the format of the original and contain the name and rank of the soldier; the unit (regiment and company); the disease or reason for hospital admittance; date admitted, date discharged; ward and bed numbers; patient's post office; baggage location and references to microfilm number or other works. In many cases, not all the information was filled in. Sometimes, all that was written was the man's name, rank, unit and date admitted. However, in some incidences, a more complete record is given.

There is another column marked "other," which contains the date the soldier returned to duty or if available the soldier's disposition (furloughed, transferred, died, discharged, deserted). Mr. Cooke remarks, "Furloughs were difficult to come by, but if a soldier was not making progress, the doctors thought it best to send the man home, for better or worse! If he recovered, he was expected to return to duty; if he did not, well then, at least he died at home among friends and family. It is also noteworthy that many of those soldiers listed as deserters were back with their units at the conclusion of the war."

This research tool has been made available by Mr. Cooke on the Society's website - www.onhgs.org. Also provided is a short history of General Hospital #4 and a glossary of diseases mentioned in the records. Both add valuable information to these records.

Many people and organizations participated in making these records conveniently available to researchers. We thank the organizations involved, Mr. Cooke and Beverly Tetterton, who coordinated this project.

<sup>2</sup>District Superior Courts were successors to the general court. After the American Revolution the district courts had the power to decide suits in equity as well as actions at law. Wilmington District records are less satisfactory than the others as far as estates are concerned. Helen Leary, North Carolina Research: (1996) page 310-311. In Wilmington, occupation by British Forces prevented New Hanover Courts of Pleas to be held until the January Term 1782.

ONE LAST WORD....

John Haywood Edwards of Wayne County was known as the "Will Rogers" of his community. His philosophy of life seems to be summed up in this quotation attributed to him: "It's been a great journey - had a fine trip - and I hope that when the Conductor comes around for the last ticket, he'll find me smiling."
